The OWA Executive Board is a hybrid, operational and governance model. Please consider your time available prior to submitting your name. At minimum, there are 9 meetings per year and, on average, 8-10 emails per day to review, comment on or action.

The duties of Officers are as follows:

- a) President - The President directly oversees the management and operation of the business and affairs of the Corporation. The President presides as chair at all meetings of the Board and the Members and acts as the Corporation's contact with the CWFHC and government agencies. The President reviews Committee reports, chairs disciplinary meetings, and serves in a leadership and co-ordination role. The President also oversees fundraising, grants and sponsorships.
- b) Vice-President Technical - The Vice President Technical directly oversees the Corporation's Technical Committees (Coach Development, Officials Development & Athlete Development Committees) reviews technical manuals, and manages teams and officials selection processes. The Vice President Technical assists with organizing officials and coaches clinics and handles competition standards. The Vice President Technical must be a registered carded technical official or be a certified coach.
- c) Vice President Administration – The Vice President Administration handles correspondence, maintains an updated system of the Corporation's documents and records, and takes minutes at all meetings. The Vice President Administration shall issue notice for meetings, be responsible for internal and external communications and will assist the President as required.
- d) Vice President Operations – The Vice President Operations receives and reviews all membership requests, handles incoming funds from Members, issues registration applications and cards, and provides membership data to the Board as required. Additional responsibilities include human resources, policy development, bylaws, Quest for Gold and appeal management.
- e) Vice President Finance - The Vice President Finance shall manage the financial operation of the Corporation by keeping full and accurate books of account of the Corporation, preparing annual statements of the finances of the Corporation for the Annual Meeting, and issuing cheques on behalf of the Board.
